

AUTOMOBILE ROAD SKILLS TEST TERMINATION LIST

July 2014 (Front)

Incomplete Test - Documents: Failure to provide driver license documents and vehicle documents will result in an incomplete test.

Incomplete Test - Equipment: Failure to provide a vehicle meeting mandatory safety standards will result in an incomplete test.

For inspection purposes, safety equipment is divided into two categories, mandatory and discretionary. Mandatory safety equipment appears in bold print and discretionary safety equipment is in regular typeface. All components listed must be checked each time a test is administered (no exceptions). If any mandatory safety equipment is missing or inoperative, the test must be terminated. If any discretionary safety equipment is missing or inoperative, the examiner will consider the weather conditions and passenger safety to determine whether or not the vehicle is safe enough to be used during the skills test.

Mandatory items:

Horn

Turn signals (front and rear)

Brake lights (including center-mount rear brake on 1986 and newer models)

Brakes

Tires

Left outside and inside rearview mirrors

Seats/safety belts

Speedometer

Discretionary items:

Headlights (low beam)/Taillights

Windshield (examiners should refuse to administer a skills test if the vehicle's windshield is cracked to the degree that it obstructs vision and/or renders the vehicle unsafe).

Windshield wipers/washers

Other – includes, but not limited to the following components: fuel level, fluid leaks, defective muffler/exhaust, suspension system, doors (the driver and passenger doors should open from the inside and outside) and heater/defroster.
